INVOKING THE SPIRITS

Mrs. Stoddard Grey, Surrounded by Fifty of the Inner Circle, Is Seized with Fatal Attack, but No Doctor Called Until Too Late.

Woman's Place Had Been Raided on Different Occasions and She Was Living Under an Assumed Name-She Had a Remarkable Career.

Mrs. Stoddard Gray, the famous spiritualist and mother of the equali famous DeWitt C. Hough, who had made a specialty, as she claimed, of pu ting people in communication of their deceased relatives since she was for years old, died suddenly to-day at her residence, No. 381 West Fifty-se enth street, where she had been conducting seances for the past two years

The circumstances under which Mrs. Gray, who was seventy-two year old, died have led the police to make an investigation, the first step which was taken to-day when Detective Connolly, of the West Forty-set enth street station, went to her home and stopped two undertakers who we Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon made an examination of the body Mrs. Gray late this afternoon and gave it as his opinion that she died bemorrhage of the brain and not of heart trouble. He left orders at the house that the body was not to be touched, and that there must be funeral services until he had made an autopsy. He will do this to-morro

Mrs. Gray was stricken at one of her private seances last night, which there was a big attendance of her followers. She had been hard work for nearly two hours raising the ghost of the husband of one of the company, and had been assisted by her son and by a man who had been more or less identified with her ventures for years, Dr. Thompson Knapton. or Knapton Thompson, who says he is a lawyer of Middle Temple, London. After she was stricken Mrs. Gray hotel-keeper. It was urder this name bed and the seance came that the report of her death was sent to an end. No medical attention was in, and it was not until the police got given to her, and when a women doc- on the case that her real identity betor, one of Mrs. Gray's own flock, was came known.

tor, one of Mrs. Gray's own flock, was called in it was too late, as the noted medium was dead.

Mrs. Gray the might the only one who would discuss the death of Mrs. Gray at all was Knapton. He was asked why no doctor had been summoned when Mrs. Gray was first stricken. He philosophy and science of life, commonly called a Spiritualist, and like all Spiritualists she did not believe in these earthy ills. She regarded these breakdowns of hers as simply psychic manifestationy and not to be treated materially."

"She has had such attacks for twelvey years and has always been kept up by a transfer of the vitality of her followers to herself. I have frequently the bedside and gently massaging the resion around the heart, at the same time saying soothingly: 'Mother, you are not ill. God will give you strength Don't you feel that the is now transfering strength to you?"

"This method always worked until to-day. When her vitality got very low indeed I called in Dr. Margaret A. N. Indeed I called in Dr. Margaret A.

when her vitality got very low indeed I called in Dr. Margaret A. N. Mount, a friend, and she did what she could, but it was too late. Dr. Mount would have treated Mrs. Gray materially, of course, but only to the extent of raising her vitality to a point where she would be strong enough to be put in communication with those who would be glad enough to transfer some of their own strength to her.

Inder Assumed Name.

Mrs. Gray has been living for several months under the name of Mrs. James A. Snyder. This was the name of her first husband who was a Saratoga
